

Linda J. Holmes, MPA

Linda Janet Holmes, Executive Director of the Office of Minority and Multicultural Health (OMMH), New Jersey Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS), has more than a decade of public health experience. In her role as Executive Director, OMMH, her activities include community outreach and education, addressing cultural competency issues and supporting the development of a minority health data clearinghouse. Prior to becoming Executive Director of OMMH, Ms. Holmes planned and coordinated outreach and cultural competency training for HealthStart, a statewide maternal child health program.

Ms. Holmes is a seasoned health researcher and writer who is well versed in health disparities and women's health issues. A life-long resident of East Orange, New Jersey, Ms. Holmes is a former board member of the National Women's Health Network, the Planned Parenthood Board of Northern New Jersey, and the New Jersey Women and AIDS Network